LEARNING AND GROWING

Fifth grade students wrapped up their Drama Unit by writing their own fractured fairy tales and then visiting first grade classrooms to share their stories. As they listened, the first graders used picture story cards to sequence the events and follow the plot.

Mrs. Sweet's students not only wrote their fractured fairy tales but also designed cover pages in Canva and created picture story cards to accompany their stories.

End of School Year Activities

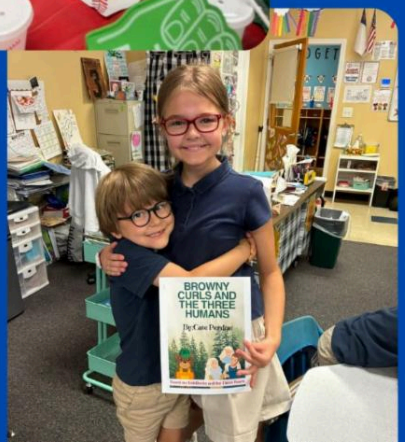

I ♥ READING

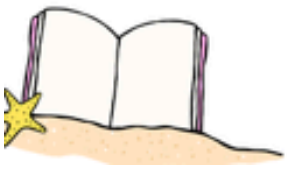

AVOID THE SUMMER SLIDE!

"The summer slide" = kids lose knowledge when not in school

Encourage your kids to dive into a good book by participating in a summer reading program! There are so many available:

- "Unearth a Story" - your Public Library
- The White House Reading Challenge
- Barnes & Noble
- "Reading with a Ranger" - SC State Parks
- Half-Price Books Summer Reading Challenge

If your child participates in any of the summer reading programs available (outside of CA's required reading), have them bring in their reading log during the first week of school, to the library. It must be signed by a parent or guardian to attest to their reading. Not only will they learn a thing or two, but they will enjoy an ice cream treat when they return to school, courtesy of our PTF! Happy Reading!
