Advisory Groups

The Advisory Program is designed as a mentor program for the middle school and high school students. Advisory Groups meet once per month for students in grades 6-12. Students will meet in small groups with an adult leader from the staff. Middle school and high school groups are divided by gender. Advisory Groups are a time to discuss topics that are relevant to students of this age guided by scripture.

HIGH SCHOOL SCIENCE

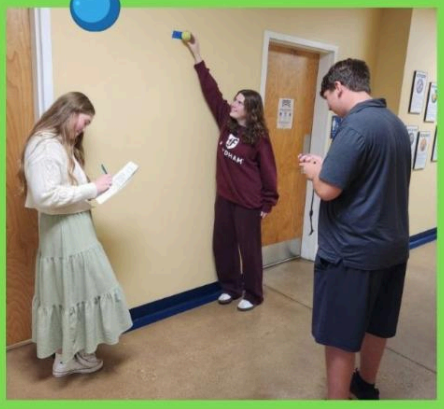

AP Environmental Science students participated in a beach sweep last weekend. They picked up trash on the beach and recorded the different types of trash collected to send to the SC Grant Consortium as part of the International Coastal Cleanup.

Physics students investigated gravity and free fall last week. They used their knowledge to determine an unknown height and then confirmed the acceleration due to gravity.

Marine Science students traveled back in time to the days of the early ocean explorers. They designed and constructed rafts to carry a crew and supplies across our man made ocean.
